Two Hundred Attend Scouts' Parent Night in Coleman

Approximately 200 persons gathered in the Elks Hall in Coleman Saturday night, April 25th, to attend the Coleman Lions Club Scout and Cub Parent Night banquet.

Under the chairmanship of John Salus, the turkey banquet was opened by singing of "O Canada", led by Scout Ken Murdoch on the piano. Grace was said by Scout Tommy Salus.

Following supper Mayor Frank Abousaffy gave an interesting talk on Scouting and its history in Coleman, to which Lion President, Jim Montalbetti, added a few remarks pointing out that the Lions Club were thankful they were able to keep Scouting alive.

Chairman of the Scout and Cub committee, John Salus, then gave a report on the function of Scouts in Coleman today, and gave his thanks to those men who gave their time to act as leaders of the boys.

Mr. Salus then introduced the head table which included Charles Matkin of Cardston, District Commissioner, and Mrs. Clarence Weeks of Cowley, Provincial Commissioner. Ron Vincent of Lethbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Montalbetti, Mrs. Salus and Mayor and Mrs. Frank Abousaffy.

After being introduced by Clarence Weeks, Ron Vincent gave an interesting talk on the aspects of Scouting and its effect on boys. He encouraged men to take an interest in Scouting as he stated that once a person became interested they never left Scouting.

Cubmaster Ed Howard expressed thanks to the speaker for a fine address.

A program of entertainment under the chairmanship of Gordon Dunford was then held, which included a display in semaphore by the First Coleman Pack, given by Tex Bradley and Rick Venier; a display in advanced semaphore including knot tying and first aid given by the Scout troop; parlor magic by Arthur Williams of Blairmore, after which Charles Matkin gave an interesting talk on his recent trip to the North-West Territories, where he visited various Scout and Cub Packs.

Mr. Matkin also showed films of his trip and displayed mukluks, gloves and other articles he had collected on his trip to the north.

He was given a hearty vote of thanks for his interesting address.

Thanks were then voiced to the interested ladies who did the cooking, preparing the tables and assisting with the banquet as well as to those firms who assisted with material donations and to the Elks Club who donated the use of their hall for the occasion.

St. Paul's United Church To Observe 55th Anniversary

St. Paul's United Church of Canada in Coleman will observe their 55th anniversary on Sunday, May 31st.

The congregation was organized in 1904 and some of the local old-timers can recall clearly the building of the present church by the new congregation who received a gift of $500 from the famed author Ralph Connor, to help out in the construction costs.

The guest preacher at both services will be the first Coleman boy to become a United Church minister, the Rev. Ted Kolber of High Prairie, Alberta.

Services will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. as usual.

Wish To Be Remembered To Pass Friends

The many friends of the Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Dykes and son Paul, will be pleased to hear that they are getting along famously at Oxford, England, and are enjoying immensely this very old part of England. Mr. Dykes left here in September of last year to take a two-year course in advanced theology at Oxford University.

Although studying hard, he and his wife have had the odd trip to London, and a recent tour by car of Salisbury, Dorchester, Exeter, Torquay and across Devon to the Bristol Channel.

They wish all their friends well, and advise they often reminisce over their years here in the Pass, and admit a feeling of homesickness from time to time.

Preparations For Coleman Rodeo On July 4th, Are Underway

The Coleman Rodeo committee, under the chairmanship of Eugene Fabro, met Tuesday, April 28th to make plans for the forthcoming Rodeo July 4th.

All committees were represented, and reported actively working. It was announced by the Program committee that the famous dancing troupe of Spokane, Wash., the Silver Spurs, who are just completing a tour of the North American continent, have accepted an invitation to be in Coleman for the evening of July 4th.

They specialize in every type of dancing, including many famous and unusual dances, such as the Bamboo dance.

The popular Rodeo Queen contest is again being held. Efforts will be made to have different communities or organizations sponsor queen candidates.

The Coleman Elks will run a bing-o on July 3rd—with all proceeds going to the Rodeo committee.

The parade will once again be one of the highlights of the day with Parade Marshal E. Carson in charge. Several bands have already signified their intentions of participating.

Anyone wishing to enter a float may contact the Parade Marshal. Arrangements for posters and other advertising are being made.

Remember the date—July 4th—help to advertise by letting your friends and former P.S.A. residents know.

Fish and Game Name Officers

Coleman Fish and Game Association held its annual meeting in the basement of the Grand Union Hotel last week when 43 members attended.

A new state of officers for the coming year was elected to office and will comprise:

President, Orazio Celli.
Secretary, Al Krywolt.

Fish committee, Henry Tiberghien, Alf Phillips, Joe Bleisach, Jack Chalmers and Paul Belter.

Predatory committee, Jim Kerr, Carl Sapeta, Walter Kubica and Big Game committee, Joe Petuk.

Ben Fontana, Gordon Marconi, Louis Vasek and Ron Collings.

Guest speaker at the affair was William Kovach, M.L.A., who gave an interesting address on re-stocking of lakes and rivers in the area.

Mr. Kovach also spoke on the work that was done this spring at Island Lake by the government to keep the lake at a favorable level for the proper propagation of fish.

Two engineers also visited the district with a view to doing more work at Island Lake to prevent the water in the lake from getting down to a low level.

The membership committee reported that so far this year there was a total membership of 115 members. The club will make an all-out drive to try to increase the membership so that a larger working force can be had to get some of the things done the club have been working for over the years.

Memberships can be obtained by contacting any of the above named officers.

Lions Support "Eye Glasses For India"

The Coleman Lions Club are participating in the "Eye Glasses For India" campaign being conducted by the Lions Clubs all over the country.

The Coleman Lions have made arrangements for collection banks at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, The Modern Electric, Freeman's Dry Goods in Coleman.

Persons having prescription glasses that are no longer being used are asked to bring them into the depots from where they will be shipped to Calgary for sorting purposes before being sent to India.

"Are You Thinking Of Leaving School"

The National Employment Service of the Unemployment Insurance Commission has prepared a booklet on this subject and the Blairmore local office manager is visiting all schools of the area supplying the high schools with this booklet.

The Commission does so in the belief that it presents compelling arguments in favor of young people obtaining all the education they can possibly get. This is true right now, and with every passing year of technological development, it becomes even more true.

The Commission's counselling service is particularly close to the employment problems of young people, and the N.E.S. works closely with school counsellors by providing labor market information as assistance in immediate job finding.

The N.E.S. has one of the most readily available and reliable sources of information on occupational and industrial trends and requirements and also on apprenticeship and other training programs.

Because of long experience with the facts of business life that awaits young people leaving school the N.E.S. recommends careful consideration of the information contained in this booklet.

It is hoped that it will help to emphasize the fact that nowadays no young person can afford NOT to have a sound education.

Catholic Hall Being Renovated

Extensive renovations and improvements to the basement section and heating plant of the Coleman Catholic hall will be completed this week-end as a large number of volunteer workers from the Parish were out in force Saturday to pour the concrete for the floor of the basement.

The numerous partitions in the basement were torn out and new supports were installed after which preparations were made for the installation of a new floor which will give the Parish a greater use of the basement.

The Catholic Women's League were on hand Saturday and supplied the men with a lunch in order to avoid any delays in the big floor pouring job. A new kitchen is also being built in the hall for various functions that are held there.

IRON AND STEEL SMELTER FOR KIMBERLEY, B. C.

TRAIL, B. C.—The construction of Western Canada's first iron and steel smelter will be started immediately at Kimberley, B. C., by The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited.

The smelter will be the first stage in an integrated iron and steel operation costing in excess of $20,000,000, which will produce pig iron, steel ingots and rolled steel products, to serve the rapidly growing markets in Western Canada.

Planned capacity will be in excess of 100,000 tons per year.

The smelter will be located adjacent to Cominco's chemical fertilizer plants in Kimberley and will employ over two hundred men. The announcement was made simultaneously this morning by the Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, Premier of British Columbia, in Victoria, and W. S. Kirkpatrick, President of Cominco in Montreal.

The first stage will consist of sintering and furnace feed facilities for a capacity of 100,000 tons of steel per year and one electric furnace of designed capacity of 35,000 tons of pig iron per year with production scheduled for early in 1961.

The addition of a second large furnace and oxygen-blown converters for the production of steel ingots together with fabricating facilities will follow in the very near future, according to the Company's plans.

Cominco's large reserves of iron tailings from the Sullivan Mine at Kimberley have long been recognized as the major source of raw material for a primary iron smelter in Western Canada. Reserves equivalent to over 15,000,000 tons of recoverable iron have accumulated during the years and current mine production increases these reserves by the equivalent of over 350,000 tons of iron each year. This raw material will be made available to the new project in the form of a high-grade iron oxide containing over 60 per cent iron. These iron reserves, Cominco's hydro-electric power resources on the Kootenay and Pend d'Oreille Rivers, and the proximity of coal, coke and limestone in the Crown's Nest Pass area, constitute a unique combination of the raw materials needed for the electrothermic production of iron and steel.

The coal from the Coleman-Pend district of the Crown's Nest Pass is the highest grade coking coal available in North America west of the Mississippi River, but until production increases, the opening of the smelter will not mean "big boom" for the coal industry, "but it is a step in the right direction".

Board of Trade To Build Information Booth

Coleman Board of Trade held its regular meeting when plans were discussed for the tourist information booth the Board are going to erect.

A committee was appointed to look into suitable locations for the booth, cost of materials and other details.

Plans so far call for the front of the booth to be painted with a detailed map of the area some 10 feet by 20 feet in size. This is being done so that at times when the booth is not manned, visitors will be able to look at the map and see the scenic spots in the area as well as locations of lakes, roads, camp shelters and other items of importance to visitors and tourists.

During the meeting the board examined some booklets on a recent survey of Coleman published by the Industrial Development branch of the Department of Economic Affairs. The board will attempt to direct the books to proper sources in an endeavor to attract possible industry to this area.

The flag pole for erection in the town park is now ready for installation and the board will make an effort to have this done without further delay.

It was agreed that a float would again be entered in the Coleman Rodeo parade to be held on the morning of July 4th.

The meeting concluded with the showing a film "Future In Oil" applied by the Canadian Petroleum Association of Calgary, which was well appreciated by the meeting.

New Sign In Slide

Department of Highways crews from Coleman, have this week re-stored the large historical sign at the west view point in the Frank Slide.

The colorful sign was blown down and damaged during a wind storm last fall and one of the pole mounts that held up the large sign, was broken off at the base.

The Department of Highways removed the sign and re-touched it, and built a new pole support for the sign which is hung by means of chains from the varnished pole frame.

The sign is set on top of a rock terrace and stone steps lead up to the sign to allow visitors a close view of the sign.

Another similar sign has been erected at the east end of the Slide by the Alberta Industrial Development Board.

A.A.R.N. Sponsor Scholarship

The regular monthly meeting of the Crown's Nest Pass Chapter of the A.A.R.N. was held at the home of Mrs. Al Krywolt of Coleman, on Thursday evening, when it was decided that the nurses would again award a $50 scholarship to the grade 12 student in the Pass obtaining the highest marks in grade 12, and who has chosen nursing as a career.

Application forms for applying for the scholarship may be obtained from the principals of the schools. It was announced at the meeting that the draw for the occasional chair had been made in the Rocky Theatre, and that Bill Krywolt of Coleman, was the lucky winner.

A vote of thanks was extended to all who supported the draw to make it successful.

The next meeting will be held on June 4th at the home of Mrs. H. Harry of Coleman.

Coleman Lions Club Sight Conservation Program Underway

Under the very able leadership of chairman H. Allen, the Coleman Lions Club have embarked on sight conservation program at the Coleman schools.

The club acquainted the Chinook Health Unit at P.O. 140 of its desire to give all school children a supervised eye test by employing qualified nurses.

Dr. Adler of the Clinic gave the club his unqualified support and commencing last Monday the Dist. Health Nurse Mrs. Yakubie with Mrs. Ann Murdoch employed by the Lions Club, commenced this worthy project. Any children with apparent eye defects will be given a notice by the nurses that they should have their eyes examined professionally.

Recent inspection by the Chinook Health doctor, of the grade ones at Coleman schools, found 11 children with eye defects. Coleman Lions, through its chairman, prepared a questionnaire for the children's parents as to whether financial aid was needed or not. The club then found that they were able to pay for three examinations in Lethbridge plus transportation and one set of glasses.

In view of the second paragraph and the fact that it might be eight or nine years before the Health Unit managed to examine all eyes because of the great number of school children in their area, the Coleman Lions felt that it was their job to take over.

When there is a direct financial need, or part need, the Coleman Lions Club stands ready to assist.

After a buffet lunch and refreshments were served an evening of dancing was enjoyed.

U. of A. Chorus Concert Successful

Well over 300 persons attended the successful concert presented by the Alberta University mixed chorus in the Elks hall, Blairmore, sponsored by the Blairmore Lions Club. The concert besides providing excellent choral arrangements, also provided string and wind instrumental music.

One of the soloists was G. K. Greene, who adjudicated one of the Blairmore Lions Club Crows Nest Pass Festivals.

The entire concert was under the able direction of Professor R. Eaton. A concert was held in the Elks hall in Blairmore on Tuesday morning for the benefit of local school children.

It is interesting to note that Miss Gail Vincent, a former Coleman student, is a member of this choir.

Annual Convention Of Alberta Commerce Chamber

James C. Miller, C.A., of Medicine Hat, today announced June 2 and 3 as the dates of the annual convention of the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, of which he is president, and urged community and business leaders throughout Alberta to participate through their local chambers of commerce and boards of trade. The annual meeting he said, will form the policies on which the Chamber's 1959-60 program, and relations with governmental and other authorities, will be based.

Mr. Miller pointed out that there will be a number of controversial and highly significant issues debated at the convention, which will take place in the Northern Alberta Jubilee Auditorium, Edmonton.

Among the subjects to be discussed by the delegates are the following: daylight saving time, compulsory arbitration of labor-management disputes in certain cases, the Crows Nest Pass Agreement, the construction of a Trans-Canada Highway via the Yellowhead route, voting in local-option plebiscites under the Alberta Liquor Act, incorporation of trade unions, paving of the Alaska Highway, uniform taxation of industry throughout Alberta.

Commenting on the announcement by the Provincial Chamber president, the manager of the Alberta Chamber, Derek S. Griffin of Edmonton, estimated that delegates from about half of the 130 member boards of trade and chambers of commerce may attend the annual meeting. He added, however, that all member organizations will have an opportunity before the convention, to study all resolutions to be presented to the delegates, and to submit their opinions on any and all the subjects to be discussed.

In this way, Mr. Griffin emphasized, the decisions of the Alberta Chamber annual meeting reflect the views of community organizations from every part of the province. He also pointed out that voting at the provincial Chamber convention is so regulated that each board and chamber from the smaller communities have proportionately more weight than the larger chambers. This, he stated, is another means of ensuring that the policies of the Alberta Chamber, formulated at the annual meeting, are representative of thinking across the province.

Officers and directors of the Alberta Chamber of Commerce, who will be largely responsible for the success and work of the convention, in addition to Mr. Miller, include: first vice-president, D. B. Hunter, Athabasca; second vice-president, A. F. Shortell, Lloydminster; immediate past president, W. D. MacDonald, Granger; directors, J. Erfeld, Peace River; J. R. Bickell, Grande Prairie; R. B. Ellis, High Prairie; L. A. Mahon, Edson; Dr. N. Onis-chuk, St. Albert; N. A. Knott, Gibbons; G. M. Peacock, Q.C., Edmonton; N. A. Umbach, Camrose; S. J. Smith, Stettler; T. R. Jaques, Oyen; J. A. The Service-Minded Man

(By Dudley L. Simms, President of Lions International)

Just what is a service-minded man? The words, taken separately, are easily defined. Service is the performance of work or labor for the benefit of others. Minded means "of a mind"; "disposed or inclined". A service-minded man is a man who is disposed or inclined to perform deeds of benefit to others.

Logically then, Lions are service-minded men, because the whole concept of the Association is based upon the disposition or inclination of its members to work for the benefit of others.

The work can be done in many fields — civic improvement, the relief of human distress and suffering, the rehabilitation of the handicapped. As Lions we are pledged to a Code of Ethics which binds us "to aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy."

It would be illogical to believe that all men are born to be dedicated do-gooders. Even those who have the inherent desire to serve their fellow-men find themselves handicapped by the busy bustle of their daily lives. The average business man, beset by the problems of his trade or profession, finds little time to search out and alleviate the problems of his neighbors. He may be disposed or inclined to perform deeds of benefit to others but unless a community or humanitarian need is brought into sharp focus he will overlook it in the distractions of his own problem-filled life.

One of the prime functions of a Lions Club, then is the organization of service-mindedness in its community. By focusing the attention of the community upon civic or human needs, the Lions Club provides a medium for the organized relief of those needs. Two years ago in his inaugural speech Edward G. Barry, defined what he considered the Four Services of Lionism. One of them, he said, was the generation of group enthusiasm for a cause which most men, as individuals, would hesitate to tackle alone.

That being true, as we know it, then Lionism not only attracts men with the latent spirit of service, but it develops them.

You and I have seen men become affiliated with a Lions Club for many reasons—fellowship, community prestige, the exchange of ideas. We have also seen these men who originally had no inclination or disposition to serve their communities or their fellow men, suddenly catch the spark of Lion service and become inspired, dedicated workers in the field of public service.

At first they "go along" with their fellow members on club activities and projects as an obligation of membership. But somewhere on the way they took upon the smiling face of a blind man with his first Leader dog, or feel the gratitude of a starving refugee child with his bowl of food and milk, or watch a crippled youngster splash happily in a pool they helped to build, and the self-minded man becomes a service-minded man because he has learned the fun and satisfaction of unselfish service in his Lions club.

I would revise, then, the definition of a service-minded man as one who is disposed or inclined to perform deeds of benefit to others. The true, service-minded man is one who is inspired to work for the benefit of others; the man who has discovered that by giving his sympathy to those in distress, his aid to the weak and his substance to the needy, he has enriched his own life.

Lions International offers this opportunity for humanitarian service to men of all nationalities, religions and beliefs in all parts of the world. It holds, within the frame work of its ethics and objects, the key to the hearts and minds of men — those who suffer, and those who serve.

It is, in every sense and definition of the word, a great, world-wide association of Service-Minded Men.

Blainmore Boy Scout Tea Successful

A very successful spring tea to raise funds for the Blainmore First Lions Scout Troop was held in the Elks hall in Blainmore on Saturday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Boy Scouts.

For the special occasion the hall was gaily decorated in Scout fashion and color and each of the tables was centered with vases of wild pussy willows and wild crows, picked by the Scouts for the occasion. Serviettes at the tables bore the Scout emblem and Scout flags adorned the hall.

For the occasion the tea was served by the Boy Scouts and poured by Scout leaders, George Deans, Albert Park, Arthur Williams, Bill Olinek and Donald Shannon.

The men and Scouts wore purple and orange aprons for the occasion. To make the affair more interesting a display of oil paintings was presented by Mr. and Mrs. P. Ties of Coleman, as well as a display of hand-made jewellery fashioned by Miss Louise Johnson of Medicine Hat.

For the entire afternoon affair Mrs. A. Hobson and Mrs. A. Mackie of Blainmore, read tea cups.

Adding variety to the tea was a hot popcorn table, also a table where young people were able to buy comic books. A table of home cooked pastries also added to the success of the affair.

The painting drawn for at the tea was won by Art O'Neill of Creston, B. C., while the door prize, a hand-carved elk horn cribbage board, made by Donald Shannon, was won by Mrs. William Jallep of Blainmore.

The several hundred that attended from all over the Pass towns voted the tea one of the most original yet held.

With the affair being such a success the Auxiliary and the Scouts have extended their thanks to all who attended and assisted in any way.

To most of us money is no object—it's a myth.

Religion Should Be Taught

Religion should be taught in the schools not as a faith but as a subject, a Toronto minister suggests in the current Maclean's.

Writes Reginald Stackhouse: — "Children should receive knowledge about religion in their schools for the same reason they receive knowledge about anything else. The aim of education should be to inform students about the life of the human race. Religion is part of the human story and so children should be taught the meaning of religion, especially the religions which they find in their own society."

But, he says, the purpose of religious education should not be the persuading of children to accept a faith in God.

"Not only would the course refrain from advocating any particular religion, it would refrain from advocating the worth of religion itself. It would simply tell them about religion. . . . We may feel that religion has had a bad influence on the life of mankind, but we cannot deny that it has had an influence. Therefore, if a person is to understand the world around him, he must understand religion."

Mr. Stackhouse urges the adoption of a five-year course of religious education to extend from grade seven to grade eleven and to embrace such subjects as the history of Israel, the life and teachings of Jesus, history of the Christian church, an elementary study of religions around the world and an analysis of the great moral problems of our times.

Money doesn't talk today. It just goes without saying.

Correction

In the write-up of the Tynemhina Cooper wedding in our last issue, we had listed among the out-of-town guests, Mrs. Shirley Penney—this should have read Miss Sheila Penney.
